

Student A

A Ask your partner these questions.

1. Have you downloaded any music this week?
[If yes, ask:] What did you download? [If no, ask:] Why not?
2. What's your favorite best-selling song?
3. Who was your favorite song performed by?
4. Do you know anyone who appreciates classical music? [If yes, ask:] Who?

B Now answer your partner's questions.C Read a rock band's online announcement. Answer your partner's questions.

Get ready, rock fans! After their awesome concerts in Los Angeles and San Francisco last month, Jozie and the Kidz have announced two more performances: one in Boston this month, and the other in New York next month.

And here's more cool news: the group's record-breaking hit "U R 4 Me" won the award for This Year's Greatest Hit. And don't forget to watch the "U R 4 Me" video clip on U-Tunes. It was uploaded earlier today, so check it out!

D Now ask your partner these questions about a singer's online announcement. (Use the present perfect or the past passive.)

1. _____ (Rock-It / upload) his two new video clips yet? If yes, when?
2. _____ (he / win) any new awards this week?
3. _____ (any albums / record) last month?
4. _____ (any albums / release) last week?

Student B

A Answer your partner's questions.B Now ask your partner these questions.

1. Have you studied for the next English test yet?
[If yes, ask:] When did you study? [If no, ask:] Why not?
2. Who's your favorite well-known singer?
3. When was your favorite song recorded?
4. Do you know anyone who composes music?
[If yes, ask:] Who?

C Ask your partner these questions about a rock band's online announcement. (Use the present perfect or the past passive.)

1. _____ (Jozie and the Kidz / perform) in Los Angeles yet?
2. _____ (the group / already / give) a concert in New York this month?
3. _____ ("U R 4 Me" / give) an award recently?
4. _____ (the group's new video clip / upload) to U-Tunes recently? If yes, when?

D Now read a singer's online announcement. Answer your partner's questions.

Are you ready to rock it with Rock-It? The award-winning singer has just uploaded his two new video clips on E-Watch. And don't forget to watch the Rock Academy's Awards Night this Friday. Will Rock-It win more awards? We hope so!

Also in the news: Rock-It recorded two new albums last month. Ready to Rock-It was released last week, and Star Songs goes on sale later this month.

