

Student A

A Ask your partner these questions.

1. What do you do when you feel lonely?
2. What were you doing at 5:00 p.m. yesterday?
3. Did you use to wear jeans to school?
4. What science classes have you taken?
5. In your opinion, what's the most famous river or lake in your country? Why is it famous?
6. What are you doing this weekend?
7. Have you ever gone camping? [If yes, ask:] Where? [If no, ask:] Why not?
8. Do you have soccer practice next week?

B Now answer your partner's questions.C Read Diana's comments on her classes and grades. Answer your partner's questions.

Last year I took chemistry, algebra, world history, English, and music. This year I'm taking chemistry, geometry, English, and music. My grades this year aren't as good as they were last year. I think that's because these subjects are more challenging. Especially math. Last year, algebra was easy for me – it was my best grade. But this year geometry is difficult, and it's my worst grade! Next week, I'm meeting my geometry teacher to talk about this problem.

D Now ask your partner these questions about Peter's comments on his classes and grades.

1. How many subjects _____ (Peter / take) last year?
2. _____ (he / study) arts last year? What kind of arts?
3. _____ (he / ever / take) history?
4. _____ (he / take) French this year? Why?
5. _____ (his grade in geography / be) worse than his grade in English last year?
6. What _____ (his best grade / be) this year?
7. In his opinion, why _____ (this / be) his best grade?
8. What _____ (he / do) next year?

Student B

A Answer your partner's questions.B Now ask your partner these questions.

1. What do you do when you feel angry?
2. What were you doing at 9:00 last night?
3. Did you use to wear a uniform to school?
4. What math classes have you taken?
5. In your opinion, what's the most famous mountain in your country? Why is it famous?
6. What are you doing tomorrow evening?
7. Have you ever tried an extreme sport? [If yes, ask:] Which one? [If no, ask:] Why not?
8. Do you have a business meeting next week?

C Ask your partner these questions about Diana's comments on her classes and grades.

1. How many subjects _____ (Diana / take) this year?
2. _____ (she / study) math this year? What kind of math?
3. _____ (she / study) chemistry last year?
4. _____ (she / ever / take) music? If yes, when?
5. In her opinion, why _____ (her grades / be) worse this year?
6. _____ (her grade in geometry / be) better than her grade in English this year?
7. What _____ (her best grade / be) last year?
8. What _____ (she / do) next week?

D Now read Peter's comments on his classes and grades. Answer your partner's questions.

I'm taking five classes this year – art, music, English, American history, and geography. Last year, I took French, too, but the classes were confusing, so I'm not taking it this year. Maybe it was a good thing. I have more time to do homework, and my grades are better this year. English was my best grade last year, and it's my best grade this year. I think that's because the classes are very interesting. I'm sure I'll take it again next year.